Who we are

Olivier DERENNE, founder and CEO of Nishikidōri, has travelled through Africa, South America, Europe and South-East Asia... and has been trading with Japan for almost 30 years. First with sauces, condiments, rice, drinks... real edible gems straight from Japan. Then, with a wide choice of tableware, decorations... Our aim is to share our culinary passion in a way that respects tradition and the origin of products, while ensuring traceability and freshness, with no risk for consumer health.

- Expert in local Japanese products
- Perfect traceability
- Rigorous quality testing in Japan and France
- Exclusive products not available elsewhere
- Supplier to the world's top tables
- Craftsmanship and close relationships with our suppliers
- A steady stream of new culinary treasures
- An Offer between traditions and contemporary creations

MISO 味噌

Miso acts as an exquisite flavor enhancer, bringing out the marine freshness. It preserves softness and juiciness while creating a lightly caramelized crust on the outside.

Beyond the grill, miso also finds its way into broths to accompany fish, or used in sauces that elegantly coat poached or steamed fillets, creating a delicate balance between fish sweetness and miso robustness.

MUSHROOMS キノコ類

Shiitake, enoki and maitake mushrooms bring a unique, flavorful dimension to many dishes, thanks to their delicate texture and rich aromas.

Once cooked, shiitake mushrooms have a soft, spongy texture, while in the mouth they release a thick, woody, strong, earthy flavor. Dried shiitakes are available all year round, whole, in compressed strips...

YUZU ゆず

The aromas are powerful, with notes of green mandarin, citron and unripe lemon. In the kitchen, yuzu is extremely versatile. Its juice and zest are used to flavor a wide variety of dishes, from vinaigrettes to desserts and drinks. Yuzu zest, in particular, is often incorporated into spice blends, used to flavor noodles or added to chili pastes for a more complex, nuanced flavor profile.
